

NATIONALS ERRORS CLOSE TO BROWNS-GOLF FINAL PLAYED TODAY

Brownies Land Final Game On Griff's Costly Misplays

By JACK NYE
St. Louis, Mo., June 11.—Taking advantage of costly misplays by the Griffins, the Brownies took the last game of the series this afternoon by a score of 5 to 1, though not without a struggle. Ole Erickson easily outpitched the left handed Carl Wellman, but the breaks went against him on all occasions and he was finally relieved by Courtney. The Brownies had a margin of one run when Erickson left the box but they garnered an additional pair of Courtney in the eighth. Had Courtney been able to hold the enemy back the Griff's would have taken the decision, for a ninth inning rally brought in two runs, but the punch needed to tie it up was not forthcoming.

Browns Take Lead.
The Griff's led by a 3-to-2 score until the fifth, when the Brownies scored two runs without a hit, largely as the result of errors by Gharrry and Shannon. In the sixth the Griff's went into the lead with two more runs, but Erickson was picked for two also in the Brown's half of the sixth. Erickson's error aiding them. It was here that Erickson departed, though he had only allowed the enemy six hits. The Nationals outlived the Browns nearly two to one, but their errors offset the difference in clubwork. Eleven hits were gathered off Carl Wellman and two off Shocker, who replaced him in the eighth.

Griff's Score First.
The Griff's greeted Wellman with three hits and as many runs in the first. Shanks dropped a short fly into center, while Jacobson reached with one hand, but couldn't hold. He stole second and went to third on a bunt, which Milan batted. Rice bunted also, and Shanks, though caught between third and home, made a sprint as Wellman tossed to Thompson and slid across the plate for the first run on a close decision.

The Brownies decided not to delay their scoring and ran up two in their half of the first. "Baby Bell" Jacobson's big bludgeon being the cause. After Gedeon had singled Jake took a wicked swing and drove the ball far over the fence in deep left.

Milan stood with his back against the barricade and watched the ball disappear. It was the second time this year the ball had been driven over the fence, Hap Felsch having duplicated the feat on May 2.

Erick in Trouble.
Erick got in a peek of trouble in the fifth as the result of a misunderstanding. In which he and Gharrry collided on a fly which fell safe. This break gave the Brownies their chance, and they scored two runs without a hit before the round was over. Wellman was the first man up and lifted a high one to the center of the infield. "I have it!" shouted Erick, but Gharrry crashed into him just as the ball fell and it was safe.

Erick then walked. Tobin and Gedeon sacrificed. Sieler was walked intentionally filling the bases and the strategy seemed to be working. Wellman tapped to Elberbe and Wellman was forced at the plate. Williams rapped a hard one at Shannon, who made a brilliant stop but pegged wildly to first.

Quaker Newsboy Socked His Way To Real Fortune

A great southpaw hand has taken Low Tandler, Philadelphia lightweight, along fortune's path to the doors of success and riches—all within the period of a half dozen years.

Literally he has "southpawed" his way up from a newsboy of the streets to wealth and to a point in the light weight division where he is the chief contender for Champion Benny Leonard's title.

Just a Newsie.
Six years ago he and his present manager, Phil Glassman, were hustling the "extras" for the newsie's penny fee.

Today they count their earnings in the thousands and promoters, who desire to engage the southpaw for an evening's work, must talk in thousands to do business with this pair.

Tandler recently bought a three-story brick home in one of the best residence districts of Philadelphia. He drives a big Stutz touring car, he owns valuable real estate and, being a great admirer of "littered rocks," he has a small fortune invested in diamonds.

Quick to capitalize his popularity as a boxer, in partnership with Glassman, he runs a smart haberdashery shop near Penn Square, where the fight fans can come in and buy silk shirts along with their tickets to Lew's fights.

"I live but once," says Lew, "so I figure I might as well have what I want right now."

"I never have to worry about the financial end of my bouts, Glassman attends to all that. He was my pal when we were newsies together and he is still just the same to me in our 'southpaw' business."

Tandler fights often. His purses are big. As the money rolls in he invests it where it will grow.

Never Uses Alibi.
He admits that Eddie Fitzsimmons caught him on an off night recently and outpointed him. "Can't always be at your best, you know. Boxing is just like any other business," he says.

"The New Yorker won't trouble next time if I'm right, and I generally am. It was the first decision against me since I have been a contender for the crown."

Tandler knocked the crown off Georges Papin, the French lightweight champion, the other night. He is all business in the ring and his knockout list predominates.

He beat Pinky Mitchell recently. Just to show he wasn't partial to any member of the family of fighting brothers, he went back to the Cream City and took on Richie, the elder.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

Julia M.
This maverick disappointed last time. However, with the change in track conditions it is fair to presume she will race to private trial; if she does it will be "little puff of smoke, good night." She can fly. Bettina, sleeper from the Milan stable, is the one most to be feared. This one has been buck jumping down the long stretch three furlongs around 0.35. Crescent should hold the others safe.

Jack Hare, Jr., who has been freshened up, looks like the winner of the second spasm. This horse always runs his best right off the reel. His private trials have been excellent. Rapid Day is good, game and consistent, while Out the Way is speedy but very faint-hearted.

Brunswick, who is given as the best bet of the day, is a sterling youngster, one in fact that has shown trial bordering on the sensational. He stands out seven points, Runfast and Some Baby in the order named.

Over at Montreal the good word is Kewessa. Billy Oliver's meal ticket worked 0.23, 0.47, 1.00 prior to being shipped here. I am also informed that Metcalf is slated to ride Back Bay, also a "melon."

Carrie Moore has been in the can so long she may not know how to act when given her head. In this order I fancy them.

Hush goes for the downs today. I understand the Hammond "agents" have dough planted in China. These people make few mistakes.

Over at Belmont Park the sweet little patoot is The Decision. Yes, I know all about gentlemen riders and that sort of thing. If you listen closely I advise he'll have a competent pilot. Go get yours.

Chevalier, to cop the closing race, is like separating the infant from his lasses. You have the answer in your lily white duke. Ye wekkum.

STEVENSON TO PLAY FINKENSTAEDT IN FINAL ROUND FOR DISTRICT GOLF TITLE AT COLUMBIA

By FRANK H. YOUNG.
That golf, like other sports, is something that cannot be figured out in advance with any degree of certainty was demonstrated in the third and semi-final rounds of the District of Columbia Golf Association's championship event on the Columbia Country Club course yesterday when three out of four who were generally expected to come through with flying colors were forced to bow to defeat.

In the very first match turned in, John H. Clapp, the Chevy Chase crack, was eliminated when he lost to T. H. Lowe, of the Washington Golf and Country Club. Closely following this came George P. James' defeat at the hands of M. B. Stevenson, while the climax came in the last match of the third round when Albert R. MacKenzie won from Walter R. Tuckerman. Clapp has been playing good golf lately, but was not quite up to his usual standard yesterday, while Lowe was going "great guns," and the latter won this match, 2 and 1. James went all to pieces in his match against Stevenson, who was very steady, and this match ended quickly, 3 and 7.

In the MacKenzie-Tuckerman match the latter played a very good game, but was simply outplayed by the Columbia player, who was good in all departments.

of the game, especially on his approach and short game. Finkenstaedt continued the brilliant golf he has been playing during the past few weeks. Against Mattingly he went around in 71—equalling John Davidson's old mark—and coming within two strokes of the new course record he established last week.

Finkenstaedt in Form.
Mattingly did not shoot a bad game but simply could not do anything against Finkenstaedt's brilliant game, losing 7 and 6. He continued his good work in the semi-finals against MacKenzie, going out in 37 and ending this match on the twelfth green, 7 and 6. He continued his good work in the semi-finals against MacKenzie, going out in 37 and ending this match on the twelfth green, 7 and 6.

In the other semi-final round match, Stevenson was forced to the last hole in order to win. He was 1 down at the turn and they were all even on No. 15, the next two being halved.

Stevenson and Finkenstaedt will meet in the finals today at thirty-three holes, the first round in which will be played in the morning with the last eighteen holes scheduled for the afternoon.

James (Columbia), 3 and 7; Robert Finkenstaedt (Columbia), defeated Arthur S. Mattingly (Columbia), 7 and 6; Albert R. MacKenzie (Columbia), defeated Walter R. Tuckerman (Chevy Chase), 2 and 1.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON ARRIVES FOR RACES

New York, June 11.—Sir Thomas Lipton was among the distinguished passengers aboard the White Star Liner Celtic when she docked this morning. Sir Thomas manifested considerable interest in the condition of the boats in the forthcoming yacht race, and said that he would be aboard the Shamrock IV all through the tuning-up period, but not on the day of the race. When asked what he thought of his chances he smiled and said: "I've been at it for twenty-one years now and I really think I'll lift the cup this time."
